LABOUR DEPARTMENT

NOTIFICATION

Simla-2, the 29th November, 1976

No. 7-21/75-LEP-Shram.—In pursuance of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (Central Act 14 of 1947), the Governor of Himachal Pradesh is pleased to publish the following award of the Labour Court, Himachal Pradesh, Simla between Shri Bakshi Ram Ex-Chowkidar Versus the Executive Engineer H. P. P. W. D. Division Sundernagar, District Mandi, which was received by the Government on the 1st September, 1976:—

(Award Annexure 'A')

ANNEXURE 'A'

BEFORE SHRI S. S. KANWAR, PRESIDING OFFICER
LABOUR COURT, HIMACHAL PRADESHS, SIMLA-1
(CAMPAT SUNDERNAGAR, H. P.)
CASE NO. 4 OF 1972

Shri Bakshi Ram .. Petitioner/Applicant.
Versus
The Executive Engineer .. Respondent.

Award

Shri Bakshi Ram, office Chowkidar, H. P. P. W. D., Slapper has filed this application under sub-section (2) of section 33 (C) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 alleging that he is a workman of the H. P. P. W. D. and is entitled to receive the Children Educational Allowance and Interim Relief as is allowed to other workers and that this right has been denied to him and hence this petition. He has claimed a sum of Rs. 2,46.65 paise as Children Educational Allowance for the period 1-4-1968 to 31-3-1972 and a sum of Rs. 225 as Interim Relief with effect from 1-3-1970 to 31-5-1971. Thus in all he has claimed a sum of Rs. 2,371.65 paise.

2. The claim of the petitioner has been resisted by the respondent-defendant who have filed a reply which they later on amended by the leave of the Court. The contention of the department is that the petitioner was a contingent paid office Chowkidar and was not a work charged office Chowkidar and that in the capacity of his being a contingent paid office

Chowkidar he is not entitled to the Children Educational Allowance and the Interim Relief as is being claimed by him. It has been contended that in the order of appointment dated 22-7-1961 it has been mentioned that the petitioner was appointed as a work-charged Chowkidar and that this is a clerical error as no post of the work-charged office Chowkidar existed at the time of appointment and that the wages of the petitioner had been drawn on the contingent bills and that the claim of the petitioner is not admissible in accordance with the rules and that the same may be rejected. It has also been contended that application under section 33 (C) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 is not maintainable.

The petitioner filed a replication and controverted all the allegations of the respondent and reiterated his claim stating that as he was appointed as work charged office Chowkidar he is entitled to the amount claimed as Children Educational Allowance and Interim Relief. From the averments of the parties my learned predecessor framed the following issues on 7-5-1973 and 27-7-1974:—

1. Whether the application under sub-section (2) of section 33-C of the Industrial Disputes Act is Competent? OPA
2. Whether the applicant had been appointed as a temporary work charged office Chowkidar and as such he is not entitled to get the Children Educational Allowance and Interim Relief? OPR
3. In case issue No. 2 is found against the respondent to what amount the application is entitled? OPA
4. Relief."

Both the parties have been given an opportunity to produce evidence in support of the pleas raised by them. The petitioner has not led any evidence while the respondent examined Shri Pararath Singh (RW1) and Shri Krishan Lal Vaidya (RW2). The order of appointment of the petitioner Ex. RA and the order of transfer of Kanshi Ram dated 25-7-1971 Ex. RB have been tendered in evidence. I have heard the representatives of the parties.

Issue No. 1:

3. The representative of the respondent has argued that this petition under section 33 (C) of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable and that the provisions of section 33 (C) are of the nature of execution proceedings and that the very amount is in dispute and that it was necessary for the petitioner to move the Government and in case of necessity to have the case referred to the Labour Court. The perusal of sub-section (2) of section 33 (c) of the Act shows that the cases of this nature it is not necessary for the claimant to get the reference made to the Labour Court. Section 33 (c) (2) enable the Labour Court to determine the amount due and if some amount is due as benefit to the worker, that amount is to be paid by the Management and can be recovered in the usual course under the Industrial Disputes Act. I am of the clear view that this petition is competent. The petitioner says that he is entitled to receive from the Management the benefit of Children Educational Allowance and the Interim Relief and this claim is disputed by the Department. This dispute can be determined by the Labour Court under sub-section (2) of section 33 (c) of the Act and the benefit claimed by the petitioner can be evaluated in sum or murey and whatever is found due can be allowed to the petitioner. In view of these considerations, I decide this issue accordingly in favour of the workman petitioner and against the department of Public Works respondent.

Issues Nos. 2 & 3:

4. Both these issues are interconnected and for the sake of convenience may be taken up together. EX.RA is the order dated 22-7-1961 appointing the petitioner as temporary work charged office Chowkidar in the pay scale of Rs. 30-1-35. According to this order the petitioner is entitled to pay of Rs. 30 per month plus usual provincial allowances sanctioned by the Government from time to time. The respondent contends that this order is not properly worded and that in fact the petitioner was employed as contingent paid and that no post of office Chowkidar (work-charged) existed at that time. The office order dated 25-7-1961 shows that six contingent posts including the post of whole time office Chowkidar have been sanctioned by the Chief Engineer including one post of whole time office Chowkidar in Mandi Division No.1. It has been admitted before me that the petitioner was appointed in Mandi Division No. 1. of the P.W.D. It is clear from this order that six contingent posts have been created but there is no material on the file to show that there was no other post of work charged office Chowkidar in Mandi Division No. 1.

5. Ex.RB is the order of transfer of Kanshi Ram who was to be relieved by Bakshi Ram, office Chowkidar, the petitioner. According to this order Kanshi Ram office Chowkidar was to be relieved of his duties w.e.f. 25-7-1961 (forenoon) and was directed to report for duty to the Executive Engineer, H. P. T. C., Mandi and Bakshi Ram petitioner was to take charge from him. This order does not show as to whether Bakshi Ram petitioner was contingent paid or not. Nor it is clear that Kanshi Ram who to be relieved by the petitioner was contingent paid employee or work charged employee. Ex. RB, therefore, is not helpful to the parties in the present case.

6. RW1 Pararath Singh has stated that Bakshi Ram petitioner was being paid from the contingencies and that the person who is paid from the contingencies is not entitled to the Children Educational Allowance or the Interim Relief. Shri Krishan Lal Vaidya RW 2 has also made similar statement. He brought all the bills relating to the drawing of pay of Bakshi Ram petitioner. These bills were perused by the representatives of the petitioner and also by me. All these bills are contingent bills and they related to the period July, 1961 to June, 1971. In cross examination Krishan Lal has admitted that before the appointment of Bakshi Ram petitioner as office Chowkidar he was working as work charged Khalsi. It was admitted before me during the arguments that the pay of work charged Khalsi is the same as that of the office Chowkidar. According to Krishan Lal RW 2, as work charged Khalsi the petitioner was entitled to claim Children Educational Allowance and also the Interim Relief. There is no material on the file to show as to why the petitioner got his service conditions changed for getting and appointment as contingent paid office chowkidar. It is stated by the respondent in their reply that the petitioner was appointed office Chowkidar on his application. This application has not been traced and filed before me. It cannot be said that the petitioner knew that he was applying for a contingent paid post of the office Chowkidar knowing the implications thereof.

7. It has been admitted before me that if it is held that the petitioner is work charged office Chowkidar as mentioned in the appointment order Ex. RA, he will be entitled to claim the Children Educational Allowance as well as the Interim Relief and that if it is held that he is a contingent paid employee then his claim cannot be admitted. In the appointment order Ex. RA, the petitioner has been shown to be appointed as work charged office Chowkidar against a temporary post. The service book also has been prepared and in this service book the petitioner has been shown to be work charged office Chowkidar. This fact has also been admitted by Krishan Lal Vaidya RW 2. It is also clear from the record that the pay of the petitioner has been drawn on the contingent bills. But this fact cannot change the service conditions of the petitioner. He has been appointed as an office Chowkidar. The respondent cannot get rid of this appointment order Ex. RA. by contending that it is only clerical error. In the circumstances of this case this clerical error cannot be allowed to prevail to the disadvantage of the petitioner. He was a work charged Khalasi and was getting the same pay as an office Chowkidar. As a Khalasi he was entitled to the allowances claimed but as an office Chowkidar on contingency he is not entitled to these allowances. If there is no post of the work-charged office Chowkidar, the petitioner could not have been appointed. Moreover, he may not have joined the post of the office Chowkidar had he known that it was a work charged post and that he was not entitled to the reliefs which he now claims. The respondent is now facing some difficulty because of the audit objections and these audit objections have been raised because of the fact that the pay of the petitioner was drawn on the contingent bill. The respondent can get rid of his difficulty if a post is created for work charged office chawkidar. Whether a post is created and not created, the terms and conditions of the appointment of petitioner cannot be changed as they do not suit the employer. The respondent cannot go behind the order of appointment Ex. RA. This order of appointment was passed as far back as 22-7-1961 and this order of appointment has not been modified or corrected until now and it is under this order that the petitioner joined service and is continuing in this post. The equity in this case demands that the petitioner should be treated as a work charged office Chowkidar instead of being treated as a contingent paid employee. And this can be done, as I have already pointed out, by creation of a post of the office Chowkidar even if it did not exist at that time. In these circumstances I hold that the petitioner is a work charged office Chowkidar and not a contingent paid office Chowkidar and as such is entitled to the Children Educational Allowance and the Interim Relief.

8. The next question for determination is as to the amount. Children Educational Allowance has been allowed vide No. F-10 (1) Estt. 1/60 of the Government of India, Ministry of Finance, New Delhi, dated 30-1-1962, Annexure "B" to the statement of claim put in by the petitioner. This Annexure at page 2 clause (b) reads as under:—

"(B) Rate of allowance (i). The allowance will be admissible at the following rates:—

Primary classes	Rs. 10 p. m. per child.
Secondary and Hr. Secondary classes	Rs. 15 p. m. per child.

(ii) The total Allowance admissible to a Government servant at any one time shall not exceed Rs. 50 p. m."

Thus the Children Educational Allowance cannot exceed Rs. 50 per month. But in the present case the Children Educational Allowance claimed by the petitioner does exceed this limit of Rs. 50 per month as is clear from annexure "C" attached to the claim petition put in by the petitioner. The petitioner has got as many as four children. During the period 1968 to 1972 he has claimed Children Educational Allowance for all these four children. This amount comes to Rs. 65 p. m. The petitioner cannot claim any allowance for his daughter Venna Devi for the period 14-4-1969 to 31-7-72. This claim of Rs. 355.65 paise is, therefore, disallowed. For the remaining three children the amount calculated comes to Rs. 55 per month. He can claim Rs. 50 only per month. Thus he has claimed Rs. 5 per month in excess for the period April, 1968 to March, 1972. This amount comes to Rs. 235 (47 months × Rs. 5). Thus the petitioner is not entitled to a sum of Rs. 590.65 P. He is entitled to a sum of Rs. 1,556 as Children Educational Allowance.

9. The Interim Relief is payable vide letter No. 2-8/70-Fin. (R&E), dated 9-12-1970 from the Deputy Secretary (Finance) to the Government of Himachal Pradesh. According to this letter the petitioner is entitled to a sum of Rs. 15 p. m. from 1-3-1970 to 31-5-1971 as Interim Relief and this amount comes to Rs. 225. Thus in all the petitioner is entitled to a sum of Rs. 1,781 as Children Educational Allowance and Interim Relief.

10. In view of the aforesaid consideration, I hold that the petitioner is work charged office Chowkidar and is entitled to Rs. 1,781 as Children Educational Allowance and the Interim Relief. I decide both these issues accordingly in favour of the petitioner and against the respondent.

Relief.

11. In view of the aforesaid considerations, I hold that the petitioner is a work charged office Chowkidar and is entitled to recover Rs. 1,781 as Children Educational Allowance and the Interim Relief. No order is made as to costs.

INDUSTRIES DEPARTMENT NOTIFICATION

Simla-171002, the 14th October, 1976

No. 13-3/72-SI(&M).—In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of section 46 of the Himachal Pradesh, Weights and Measures (Enforcement) Act, 1968, (Act No. 23 of 1968) the Governor, Himachal Pradesh, is pleased to make the following amendments in the Himachal Pradesh, Weights and Measures (Enforcement) Rules, 1969, the same having been previously published in the Himachal Pradesh Rajpatra, dated the 20th March, 1976:—

SCHEDULE VII (B) TEMPERATURE MEASURING INSTRUMENTS

Amendment of Rule 10(1) and (2).—In sub-rules (1) and (2) of Rule 10 of the Himachal Pradesh Weights and Measures (Enforcement) Rules, 1969 (hereinafter called the said Rules, for the words and figures "in Schedule VI and Schedule VII" the words and figures "in Schedule VI, VII, VII-A, and VII-B" shall be added.

Amendment of Rule 17.—In Rule 17 of the above said Rules for the words and figures "in Schedule VI and Schedule VII" the words and figures "in Schedule VI, VII, VII-A, and VII-B" shall be added.

Addition of Schedule VII-B.—After the Schedule VII-A appended to the said rules, the following be added as Schedule VII-B:

SCHEDULE VII-B TEMPERATURE MEASURING INSTRUMENTS

PART—1 (Clinical Thermometers)

1. General.—This part deals with mercury-in-glass clinical thermometers, with a maximum indicating device, intended to measure body temperature of human beings and animals.

2. Unit of temperature and graduation of scale—

- (a) the thermometers shall be graduated in degrees Celsius (symbol °C);
- (b) the graduated scale shall include the range of temperature from 35.5°C to 42°C or 43°C respectively;
- (c) the thermometer shall be graduated at every 0.1°C.

3. Types.—(a) Clinical thermometers may be of the stem type or the sheath type.

- (i) in the stem type thermometers, the scale shall be marked directly over the tube of the capillary;
- (ii) In the sheath type thermometers, the scale shall be marked on a scale plate affixed length-wise behind the capillary tube. The capillary tube and the scale-plate shall be fused into an air-tight transparent tube which is joined to the mercury bulb and forms a protective sheath.
- (b) The thermometers shall be provided with a maximum indicating device which prevents the mercury from descending by itself when the thermometer is cooled.

4. Materials.—(a) The bulbs of the thermometers shall be made from glass which possesses the properties indicated in Appendix A and shall be identified legibly and indelibly either by the name or trade mark of the manufacturer of the glass or by the name or trade mark of the manufacturer of the thermometers.

(b) When determined by the method indicated in Appendix B, the glass used for maximum indicating device, the capillary tube and the bulb shall extract not more than 263.5 micrograms of sodium oxide (Na_2O) per gram of glass.

(c) The scale-plate of the sheath type thermometers shall be made of translucent material, metal or any other material having equivalent dimensional stability.

5. Construction.—(a) The clinical thermometers shall be free from all defects which may hamper their normal working or mislead the users into error.

(b) The capillary tube shall be of such shape that the entire mercury column and the meniscus at its end are easily and distinctly seen.

Note.—It should preferably be of the thick prismatic type.

(c) The mercury used shall be pure and dry. The bulb, the capillary tube and the mercury shall be free from entrapped gasses so as to ensure the proper working of the thermometers.

(d) The mercury column shall rise uniformly without noticeable jumps when the thermometer is gently heated. After the thermometer has been heated to at least 37°C and then cooled down to ambient temperature, the column shall fall below the lowest numbered graduation line when the mercury is subjected to an acceleration of 600 m/s² at the level of the bottom of the bulb.

(e) The scale-plate of the sheath type thermometers shall be fixed firmly to the capillary tube so as to prevent any mutual displacement of the two parts. Its position shall be indicated by an indelible mark on the sheath tube, level with one of the numbered graduations of the scale.

Note.—This mark facilitates detection of any accidental displacement of the scale-plate with respect to the capillary tube.

(ii) The sheath shall not contain any foreign matter and shall be free from entrapped moisture.

6. Graduation and numbering.—(a) The interval between every degree Celsius shall be not less than six mm for sheath type thermometers and not less than five mm for stem type thermometers.

(b) The graduations shall be uniform and distinct. They shall be engraved or printed indelibly. The lines shall be perpendicular to the axis of the thermometer. Their thickness shall be not more than one-fifth the length of the maximum graduations in the case of the sheath type thermometers and one-fourth the length of the minimum graduations in the case of stem type thermometers. The lines corresponding to half degrees and full degrees shall be longer than other lines.

(c) Lines representing degrees shall be numbered. The numbers shall be engraved or printed indelibly.

7. Marking.—(a) The following markings shall be engraved or printed indelibly on the scale-plate of the sheath type thermometers and on the stem of the stem type thermometers.

- (i) the symbol "°C";
- (ii) the manufacturer's name or trade mark;
- (iii) an indication identifying the glass of the bulb, unless the glass is already identified by its manufacturer.
- (iv) in the case of veterinary thermometers, a special indication, for example 'Veterinary thermometer'.
- (b) Other markings may be added provided they do not mislead the user.

8. Metrological controls.—(a) Approval of Model:

- (i) Every model of the thermometer of each manufacturer shall be submitted for approval to a laboratory specified by the Controller of Weight and Measures.
- (ii) no change in an approved model shall be made without special authorisation.

(b) Verification:

- (i) New thermometers shall be submitted to tests for initial verification.
- (ii) Thermometers in use shall be submitted for verification every two years.

9. Sealing.—(a) The Inspector's seal shall be applied by a suitable method on the stem of the stem type thermometers and on the sheath of the sheath type thermometers at such a place that it does not obstruct the normal use of the thermometers.

10. Maximum permissible errors.—(a) After cooling down to a temperature between +17°C and plus 23°C, the readings of clinical thermometers throughout the length of the scale, shall not be incorrect by more than — 0.15°C or +0.1°C.

11. Time constant.—(a) The time constant 'K' of clinical thermometers, in a stirred water bath, shall be less than or equal to 2.6 seconds.

Note.—The time constant "K" is defined by the formula $V_2 - \text{reading} = (V_2 - V_1) - t/k$ giving approximately the value by which, after a time "t" (in seconds) of immersion, the reading of a thermometer, (if it is accurate), differs from the temperature V_2 , the thermometer initially being at the temperature V_1 and then being immersed in a water bath at the constant temperature V_2 . A clinical thermometer, at the temperature of 20°C, which is immersed in a bath at 40°C. should have attained its final reading (40°C if it is possible) with an approximation of 0.01°C. after a time to be derived from the formula: $40 - 39.99 = 0.01 (40 - 20) e^{-t/2.6}$ or 20 seconds at the most.

ANNEXURE A

QUALITIES OF GLASSES FOR BULBS OF THERMOMETERS

In order to be suitable for the production of bulbs of clinical thermometers the glass shall have qualities such that a thermometer, without a maximum indicating device manufactured with that glass and heated in a boiling water bath at 100°C. for half an hour does not give a depression of the zero by more than 0.05°C.

APPENDIX 'B'

DETERMINATION OF HYDROLYTIC RESISTANCE OF GLASS GRAINS AT 98°C

1. Apparatus:

- Balance, accuracy ± 5 mg or better;
- Burettes, 10 ml, graduated in 0.05 ml, and 1 ml. or 2 ml., graduated in 0.01 ml.
- Cooling bath of capacity sufficient to contain 1 litre of water for each flask used in the test.
- Conical flasks, 100 ml. capacity, made of chemically resistant glass and pre-heated for filling to the base of the neck with water and heating as described in clause (e) below.
- Volumetric flasks, 50 ml. capacity, made of chemically resistant glass, with glass stoppers. It is advisable to select flasks with the graduation line in the lower half of the neck. Before use, each flask should be pre-tested by filling to above the graduation mark with water and heating to 100°C in the heating bath for 3 separate periods of one hour, using a fresh quantity of water in the flask each time.

Note.—Flasks made from vitreous silica may also be used in which case the pre-treatment is not required.

- Hammer, weighing about 1 kg.
- Mortar and pestle made of hardened steel.
- Pipette 25 ml.
- Sieves. A set of 200 mm diameter square aperture sieves, with stainless steel mesh, including—
—1 sieve (A) of 500 micrometers aperture;
—a sieve (B) of 300 micrometers aperture; and —a sieve (C) of a convenient aperture between 600 and 1000 micrometers.

The above pan and especially the rings should be of stainless steel or lacquered wood.

The use of sieve (C) is recommended to retain large pieces of glass and to avoid heavy water on sieve (A).

- Thermometer, covering the range 90° to 107°C, capable of being read to an accuracy of $\pm 0.2^\circ\text{C}$.
- Heating bath, gas or electrically heated, the mechanically controlled of capacity sufficient to contain 1 litre of liquid for each flask used in the test and capable of carrying out the heating cycle described in clause 4 below.
- Stoppered storage vessel.

2. Reagents:

- Analytical grade reagents shall be used throughout.
- Distilled water or deionized water, of high purity complying with the following requirements when tested immediately before use. It should be free from dissolved gases and heavy metals, particularly copper as shown by the dithiozone test, it should have a specific conductivity not exceeding $1 \times 10^{-4} \text{ S/m}$ at 20°C and it should be neutral to methyl red.

- Citric acid, Q.I.M. Dissolve 21.008g. of solid citric acid ($\text{C}_6\text{H}_8\text{O}_7 \cdot \text{H}_2\text{O}$) in water and dilute to one litre.
- Hydrochloric acid, 0.01 N.
- Disodium hydrogen phosphate 0.2 M. Dissolve 35.6g. of solid disodium hydrogen phosphate ($\text{Na}_2\text{HPO}_4 \cdot 2\text{H}_2\text{O}$) in water and dilute to one litre.
- Buffer solution PH=5.2 Add 92.8 ml. of 0.1 M citric acid to 107.2 ml. of 0.2M (disodium hydrogen phosphate).
- Methyl red indicator Dissolve 25 mg. of the sodium salt of methyl red in 100 ml. of water.

3. Preparation of sample.—Wrap the glass article as received, which should preferably have a wall thickness less than 1.5 mm. in clear paper and break it with a few hammer blows. Transfer at least 30g. of pieces between 10 and 30 mm diameter to the hardened steel mortar, insert the pestle and drive sharply, once only, with hammer. Transfer the glass from the mortar to the upper sieves and shake the set of sieves briefly so separate the finer particles. Return to the mortar the glass remaining on sieves (A) and (O) and repeat the crushing and sieving until only about 10g. of glass remain on sieve (O). Discard the glass from sieve (O) and from the receiving pan. Shake the set of sieves by hand for five minutes. Reserve for the test the grains which pass through sieve (A) but are retained on sieve (B).

At least 10g. of sample is required for the test. If it is necessary to crush and sieve more sample it is essential that sample already obtained should be removed from sieve (B) and not sieved again.

After completion of all crushing and sieving combine the samples, spread the grains on clear glazed paper and pass the magnet through them to remove any iron particle. Transfer the sample to the storage vessel and insert the stopper.

4. Procedure.—Transfer 2.00 g of the freshly prepared sample into each of three 50 ml. volumetric flasks. Remove any adherent fine particles by swirling the grains six times in separate 30 ml. portions of water, decanting as much water as possible after each washing. Fill the flask with water to the graduation line and fill a fourth flask with distilled water to serve as a blank test. Distribute the glass grains evenly over the flask bases of the sample flasks by gently shaking them, on the heating bath maintained at $98 \pm 0.5^\circ\text{C}$ so that they are immersed half way up the neck (a rack to hold the flask may be used). Increase the rate of heating so that the specified temperature is recorded within 3 minutes, after 5 minutes, when the flask has been warmed, insert the stopper. Continue the heating for 60 minutes from the time of immersion, maintaining the heating bath at $98 \pm 0.5^\circ\text{C}$.

Remove the flasks from the bath, take out stoppers, place the flasks in the cooling bath, cool in running water and agitate contents of each flask thoroughly, then allow to stand until the grains settle and a clear supernatant solution is obtained.

By means of a pipette, transfer 25 ml. of the clear solution from each flask into separate 100 ml. conical flasks, add to each of these flasks two drops of methyl red indicator and titrate with 0.01 N hydrochloric acid, matching the end point with 25 ml. of buffer solution plus two drops of indicator contained in a similar conical flask. Titrate all three sample solutions and the blanks test solution in the same way.

5. Expression of results.—Subtract the blank test value from each of the three values obtained from the samples and calculate the mean of the results per gram of sample, report this value and its equivalent in alkali extracted, calculated as micrograms of sodium oxide (Na_2O) per one gram of glass.

1 ml. of 0.01N hydrochloric acid = 310 micrograms of sodium/oxide.

Note.—If the wall thickness of the article used for the test is less than 1.5 mm, or if the density of the glass is outside the range 2.3 to 2.7g per ml. at 20°C these values should also be reported.

Add in Schedule VII:

Fees payable for verification and stamping of Weights, Measures and Weighing and Measuring Instrument.

Sl.No. 10 clinical Thermometers Fee per piece

Range of thermometre between 35°C to 43°C. Rs. 0.20 paise.

By order,
R. C. GUPTA,
Secretary.
